Deep Thoughts

by Rex Andy

Terraloco's first big summer of fun is well underway now. I'm meeting my goal of producing a training event per week in addition to the four big events, three yet to come. The July calendar is complete now, and August will be announced soon. So far, it seems that people have enjoyed the offerings. I welcome your feedback and suggestions. Hope to see you at the anniversary event 8/16.

Represent the Bay Area

Time to make the November sprint finals maps! Check out the arena at S.F. State - from the top of the student center you can see the action. Pt. Bonita has some beach. Finished Old Oakland - intricate!

Icy Hot Gossip

BAOC, terraloco, and Get Lost!! have worked out an agreement to coproduce November's "Golden Gate Getaway," starting with the Pacheco Pass event, continuing with weekday training events, and ending with the North American Sprint Series finals in San Francisco. We're expecting participants from all over the continent... a weekend in Fresno? It might be coming in 2010 or 2011. I've identified some nice terrain, just gotta go visit... Middle Harbor in the Port of Oakland, January 1, 2010 - what do you think?
